

Call for Papers UK in a Changing Europe Virtual Conference on the Economics of Brexit For Early Career Researchers

Zoom Conference on Brexit, 22 September 2020

Submission Deadline: 4 September 2020

The UK in a Changing Europe, supported by Cambridge-INET, is organising a one-day conference on the Economics of Brexit for Early Career Researchers (untenured assistant professors, post-docs, and PhD students) to take place on Zoom.

This conference is being organised to offer Early Career Researchers working on the economic impacts of Brexit an opportunity to present their research in a forum that will offer constructive feedback and mentorship. Successful submissions will also be given the opportunity to create a blog post on their research findings for the UK in a Changing Europe website. Meredith Crowley (Cambridge) and Dennis Novy (Warwick) will lead the discussion of each paper and offer feedback. During the Brown Bag lunch break, Meredith Crowley will deliver a mentoring workshop on research dissemination and engaging with media outlets.

The primary focus of this conference is research on the short and long run impacts of Brexit on the UK and its trading partners. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to:

- Impact(s) of Brexit on international trade
- Brexit and exchange rates
- Impact of Brexit on firms' production, trade, and employment
- Impact of Brexit on domestic and international prices
- Brexit and global supply chains
- Brexit and micro and macro patterns of productivity
- Trade agreements, trade policy and Brexit
- Regulatory standards and Brexit
- The interactions of Brexit with the COVID shock

Paper submission:

Interested authors should submit a detailed extended abstract or, preferably, a complete paper in PDF format, and a CV to: conference-submissions@econ.cam.ac.uk by 4 September 2020.

Please indicate in the covering email whether the presenting author is (a) an untenured assistant professor/lecturer, (b) a post-doctoral researcher, or (c) a PhD student. Successful authors will be notified by 12 September 2020.

Organising committee: Meredith Crowley (Cambridge) and Dennis Novy (Warwick).
